Sterling Care, the leading regional Certified Home Health Agency, is pleased to announce that Lynn Bausch, RN has joined their management team as Clinical Manager. Most recently, Lynn was Director of Nursing at The Nathaniel Witherell Skilled Nursing Facility in Greenwich.

During her 32 years there, her responsibilities have included all administrative and clinical aspects of nursing care, budgets, educational and training programs, recruitment and retention of nursing staff, residents' rights issues, development of care programs, admissions, policies and guidelines.

"On behalf of our team at Sterling Care, I would like to express our enthusiastic support for Lynn as she helps to lead our agency into the future," said Steven Katz, President and founder of Sterling Care. "There is no one as uniquely qualified as Lynn to provide high quality compassionate care to older adults. She has had phenomenal geriatric clinical experience, leadership and expertise at The Nathaniel Witherell that she brings with her and we look forward to having her join our management team and working together to help older adults thrive in the comfort of their own home."

Lynn will oversee the clinical operations including nursing, social work, and home health aides. She also supervises and manages care for clients and trains the clinical team.

Most recently, Lynn was Director of Nursing at Nathaniel Witherell Skilled Nursing Facility in Greenwich, CT. During her 32 years there, her responsibilities have included all administrative and clinical aspects of nursing care, budgets, educational and training programs, recruitment and retention of nursing staff, residents' rights issues, development of care programs, admissions, policies and guidelines.

As a licensed Registered Nurse, Ms. Bausch has her B.S. in Business Management Curriculum from Teikyo Post University and her A.A.S in Nursing from Pace University.

She is a Certified Dementia Care Practitioner, Resident Assessment Coordinator, and Legal Nurse Consultant. She has won numerous accolades, including twice awarded Town of Greenwich Employee of the Year.

Lynn joins Sterling Care at an exciting time as the dramatic growth of the senior population and the increased desire to age in place has huge implications for home health care agencies, the fastest growing segment of the health care industry. "I am enthusiastic about working with such a high level group of people who are also fascinated with advances in aging," Lynn said. "Helping people live comfortably in their familiar surroundings at home is important to me."

To achieve Sterling Care's commitment to be the highest standard of in-home care options, they have put together the highest quality staff, thought leadership and innovation for a continuum of care. Some of their services include skilled In-home nursing care, physical therapists, personal training, caregivers and companions, memory care for alzheimers and dementia, cardiac and diabetes care and geriatric care management.
