Flower Angels USA has named its first executive director, Kristine Callahan, who has more than two decades of experience in the private sector and nonprofit health care and senior advocacy, according to a statement by the organization.

Callahan, who began her new role Nov. 1, will be responsible for overseeing the vision, growth and day-to-day operations of the nonprofit group dedicated to uplifting spirits and relieving loneliness by delivering repurposed flower arrangements to residents in Cape Cod nursing homes, senior living communities and hospice care.

Since arriving at Flower Angels, Callahan has helped deliver arrangements to veterans in facilities from Bourne to Provincetown, and all points in between, in advance of Veterans Day.

Callahan has worked as the Cape and Islands adviser for 2Sisters Senior Living Advisors, and will continue her work as an adviser while directing Flower Angels' next phase of development.

A board member of the Estate Planning Council of Cape Cod, Callahan is a certified senior adviser and certified dementia practitioner. She has lived on Cape Cod since 1999 and currently resides in Cotuit.
