

The LEADER

Corning Community College to hold Alzheimer's seminar

Thursday Posted at 5:15 PM

Corning Community College's Workforce Education and Academic Pathways will hold a one-day seminar on Alzheimer's disease and dementia care from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 15 at the Academic and Workforce Development Center, 318 Madison Ave., Elmira.

By Staff Reports

Corning Community College's Workforce Education and Academic Pathways will hold a one-day seminar on Alzheimer's disease and dementia care from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 15 at the Academic and Workforce Development Center, 318 Madison Ave., Elmira.

This seminar is for those working in the health care industry or human services field who are interested in working with individuals with dementia, including Alzheimer's disease, and their caregivers. The seminar, presented by Jennifer McKeown, is required for individuals interested in achieving the Certified Dementia Practitioner certification.

To register, visit http://www.corningcc.edu/workforce. For more information, call 607-936-5501.

