The Mid-Atlantic Association of Community Health Centers (MACHC) and the Delaware Division of Public Health's Offices of Health Equity (DPH) are proud to present a dynamic Cultural Competency Training.

Today, primary care providers are challenged more than ever to respond to the needs of a diverse patient population. In addition, due to the Affordable Care Act, healthcare providers are seeing newly insured patients; many of whom may have never used the primary care system before. To be successful, we must be able to meet their needs in a culturally sensitive way.

Cultural Competency Training provides a myriad of techniques to help address cultural and linguistic barriers to care. With an emphasis on the fundamental elements of Cultural Competency for Health Care Professionals, this training will assist participants to more effectively provide culturally sensitive services.

All healthcare professionals, including physicians, nurses, social workers, front office staff, facility managers, supervisors, etc., are encouraged to attend!

This free training will offer:

- Discussions on cultural competency techniques

Importance of utilizing culturally sensitive language and behavior

- Strategies for health entities to foster greater engagement with clients and co-workers
- Excellent networking opportunity
- Application has been made for Continuing Education Credits for nurses

Understanding Cultural Competency and how it fits into your organization will help your organization meet the increased demand for health care services from culturally diverse populations, foster greater collaboration and ultimately enhance care to your patients.

This training will be offered both in the morning and afternoon over a two day period in the format of two (2) 1/2 day trainings to accommodate participants on either day. Participants need only attend 1 of the 1/2 day sessions for the conference.
