Lisa Fortier, of Yarmouth Port, has been hired as the life enrichment director at Rosewood Manor, according to a statement from the Harwich-based nursing residence.

Fortier originally studied to be a certified nursing assistant at Quinsigamond Community College in Worcester, where she also took business classes. She has worked as an activities aide as well as an activities director. She has more than 20 years of experience working with the elderly and Alzheimer's population and is a certified dementia practitioner.

Rosewood manor is a 24-hour care facility that offers rehabilitation, short-term and long-term care in a homelike setting. For more information, go to rosewoodmanorcapecod.org.
