Royal Innovation: Alzheimer's Care

The skilled nursing facilities of the Royal Health Group are committed to providing a safe, nurturing, homelike environment for the memory impaired that encourages a feeling of comfort and safety through a structured, individualized lifestyle program. With it comes a commitment to providing the best quality of life possible for our residents.

All Royal licensed staff members are personally trained to be "Certified Dementia Practitioners," with C.N.A.s undergoing in-depth dementia training and given detailed background on each new resident prior to admission. The program features failure-free activities, family style dining, monthly support groups for families, short term rehab specifically designed for the memory impaired and hospice services.

The "Royal Innovation: Alzheimer's Care" program is directed by Maureen Bradley LPN CDP, one of the Commonwealth's most respected Alzheimer's care experts. Maureen brings 40 years of long term care experience to her position, along with a commitment to providing the best quality of life possible for our residents.

"Instead of looking strictly at the disease, I look at the person. Everyone who struggles with dementia or Alzheimer's is a person who raised a family – a person who lived and worked in the community before the onset of the disease. I try to keep that in mind always. Everyone deserves to be treated with dignity." -Maureen Bradley
