Senior Home Care Services, Inc. Hosts Comprehensive Alzheimer's and Dementia 8-Hour CEU Seminar

Senior Home Care Services, Inc.

Wednesday, May 12 2010

In celebration of their 10th anniversary Senior Home Care Services, Inc hosted an eight hour CEU Seminar titled "Alzheimer's & Dementia" at their office in Morristown. This comprehensive course was taught by Barbara Rimorin, an approved Alzheimer's & Dementia trainer credentialed by the National Council Certified Dementia Practitioners.

Barbara was able to bring her caring attitude and professional expertises to this innovate and hands on course. Lisa Kranis, LNHA from Care-One in Madison said "the class was very interesting and different than any other CEU class she had attended in the past."

This eight hour course had attendees that comprised of home care providers, registered nurses, social workers, assisted living administrators, and professional who serve the seniors and their families from Morris, Somerset, Essex, Bergen, Union, Passaic Counties of New Jersey. They now have the knowledge to successfully be able to provide long term dementia care.

This course is normal $225, but for most attendees it was FREE. President/Owner, George C. Koenig believes it is important to give back to others in the industry. Care-One shares his philosophy and provided and lunch for everyone.

This course ended with an opportunity for everyone to network and share their experiences. Everyone enjoyed talking about what they just had learned and getting to know more about each other.

Stephanie Jurusz, MSW, LSW from Hackettstown Regional Medical Center said, "she found the seminar to be very beneficial and informative."
