MONTICELLO — Legacy Neighborhood Director, 814 S. 6th St. in Monticello, announced it has hired a new Legacy Neighborhood Director, Reanna Adams.

Adams brings 17 years of nursing experience to the position and has been with the Trilogy Corporation since 2012.

She said that one of the most memorable parts of her job is “when someone who hasn’t spoken or smiled or engaged with family or staff suddenly talks or sings. Those moments are the most rewarding.”

She is a certified dementia practitioner and is also certified in hand-in-hand protocols.

Originally from Houston, Adams grew up in Indianapolis and currently resides in Monticello with her husband and two daughters.

In her free time, she enjoys photography.

It’s a 20-minute experience where members of the public go through a simulation of what it is like to live with Alzheimer’s disease and trying to accomplish daily tasks.

The Virtual Dementia Tour is a must for everyone caring for individuals suffering from any form or level of dementia.
