The Institute for Public Health and Education Research will hold a COMMUNITY Approach to Alzheimer's Disease and Dementia Care training on Saturday, June 25, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the McKenna Event Center at 801 W. San Antonio St. in New Braunfels. Early registration is open.

The program will be facilitated by an approved National Council of Certified Dementia Practitioner's instructor, and will be open to the general public. Continuing Nursing Education credits will be available, as well as Continuing Medical Education credits, pending approval. Nursing home administrators, social workers, and certified nursing assistants will also receive credit hours. This program is eligible for a Certified Dementia Practitioner, applied for separately.

Register online at aacog.com. Registration is $10.

For more information, contact Nancy Pappas at 210-385-5981 or events@regonline.com.
