NURS 262 RESOURCES SELECTED

FROM THE LIBRARY AND FROM THE WORLD WIDE WEB

REMINDER: The following resources have been selected as examples from our library collections and from the World Wide Web. These are not the only sources available.

Finding a book in the library is easy. Each library book has a unique number--like an address--that lets a searcher know where the book is located on the library's shelves. Our academic library uses the Library of Congress call number system to file books. Books on a single topic in the collection will all begin with similar Library of Congress call numbers.

Call numbers relevant to nursing include RT 1-120 for nursing in general; RT 89-120 for nursing specialities; QM 23 for anatomy; and KF 2915 for nursing and law. R includes all medicine.

REMINDER: To connect from off-campus to online articles in electronic databases, you will need to enter your last name and 14-digit barcode from your Brookdale ID card in a pop-up dialogue box.

REMINDER: To connect from off-campus to a NetLibrary electronic book (eb) from the Bankier Library online catalog, you will need to create a NetLibrary account. Directions can be found at: <http://ux.brookdalecc.edu/library/ebook.php>. Please give it a try; it's not a difficult task.
