One Day Seminar Presents Improved Care of Dementia and Alzheimer's Patients

Phoenix - Memory care expert, consultant and author Cindy Keith, RN, BS, CDP will present a one-day course in Alzheimer's and dementia care Monday, June 27 at the Viscount Suite Hotel in Tucson, Ariz.

Keith will address improved care and treatment approaches for those with dementia focusing on improving the quality of life for those individuals, their loved ones and their families. Scheduled for 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., the course is approved by the National Council of Certified Dementia Practitioners (NCCDP). Attendees who successfully complete this course may apply to the NCCDP for certification as a Certified Dementia Practitioner (CDP). (This course is a pre-requisite for the CDP application.) The course has also been approved for eight Continuing Education Units of credit (for nurses, social workers and activity therapists) by the Arizona Board of Examiners of Nursing Care Institution Administration and Assisted Living Facility Managers. The course is suitable for professionals, family caregivers or those interested in pursuing a career in memory care.

Keith is a much sought-after speaker and consultant in the field of dementia and Alzheimer's and is the founder of Moving In Nurturing Directions (M.I.N.D.) in Memory Care. She is the author of "Love, Laughter, & Mayhem - Caregiver Survival Manual for Living with a Person with Dementia," as well as "Love, Laughter, & Mayhem In Eldercare Facilities: The Master Key for Dementia Training."

The cost for the course is $140 and includes workbooks as well as continental breakfast and lunch. Deadline for registration is June 13; to register for the course, contact Cindy Keith at keithc@mindinmemorycare.com or call (814) 235-0691 (note, Eastern Standard Time).
