Quality of life for the remaining years

Today June 28, 2010 I am having my own inaugural. My consulting services resumes today so much so I can share to the communities the experiences and skills acquired during my practice as a nationally certified geriatric activity consultant and certified dementia practitioner.

A week ago I met a lady sharing her last year with her mother who passed away after suffering from Alzheimer's Disease. We validated the experiences and I then felt the need to be back to dementia care so that family members will be able to communicate better with their love ones even if they are already disoriented.

To us who are still in this world might not make sense in continuing the communication, but to the disoriented it is entirely a remarkable experience though he or she may not be able to share anymore.

My consultancy will involved speakership at city senior centers, for reservation please contact me.
