Council urges Alzheimer and dementia training for healthcare workers

2005 MAR 21 -- The U.S. National Council of Certified Dementia Practitioners is stressing the need for Alzheimer and dementia training for all health care professionals.

It is imperative that long-term care facilities provide competent trainers in the area of dementia.

As the number of dementia cases continues to increase nationwide and worldwide, there is a great necessity to insure that caregivers are well trained to provide appropriate, competent and sensitive direct care and support for the dementia patient.

The National Council is holding a nationally recognized Alzheimer and dementia "Train the Trainer" Seminar. The seminar...
