

Psychiatric facilities fail many kids — yet NC keeps paying out millions

Our "Locked Away" investigation discovered that the state continued to pay psychiatric residential treatment facilities millions when they repeatedly broke rules meant to ensure the safety and well-being of children.

New Hanover County Sheriff's Office deputy fired after being arrested

Man killed in officer-involved shooting after holding a child hostage

Cottage community brings 315 homes to Leland

News |

NC Answers: Why is there no happy hour in North Carolina?

News |

Students to keep masks on despite end of county mandate

News |

Dying coral reefs bring Prince William and Wilmington native together

News |

Wilmington places offering Thanksgiving meals

Lifestyle |

■ FOR SUBSCRIBERS

Hoggard football's stellar secondary ready for biggest test of season

Sports |

Meet the StarNews Staff

Business |

Battleship Half Marathon in Wilmington

Sports |

What to know about Duke's Michael Savarino, Coach K's grandson

Sports |

NC kindergarten enrollments rebound, but school alternatives flourish

News |

Sadie Cocco is Pender's Student of the Week

News |

Help · Terms of Service · Your California Privacy Rights/Privacy Policy · Privacy Policy · Site Map · Accessibility · Our Ethical Principles · Cookies Settings

© Copyright Gannett 2021